

The Constitution of the United States begins by saying the following:

We the people of the United States, in Order to Form a More Perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States.

Oath of Office for the President of the United States :

I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the Office of the President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States

Similar oaths are taken by most officials within governmental structures of the United States; they affirm that they will preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States.

*A question: How many of the governmental employees (including the President, Vice President, members of the Cabinet, House of Representatives, Senators, Supreme Court Justices, etc.), who take the Oath of Office, understand the necessity and importance of taking this Oath to the preservation of our democracy, and are actually adhering to the Principles set forth in the Constitution of the United States?
